

Before they became the Beacon Street Girls, Charlotte, Avery, Katani and Maeve were not exactly the best of friends. In fact, they didn't even like each other—all because of first impressions.

Directions: Look at the list of first impressions. Write the character that matches the first impression in the "Character" column. Then think about what the Beacon Street Girls learned about that character by the end of the book. Write those qualities in the "Second Look" column.
